"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

Did you know that only four percent of the nation's labor force works on farm today as contrasted with 50 percent a century ago and almost 90 percent in 1776.

Advances in farming machinery, seeds, fertilizers plus greater knowledge make it possible for far fewer farm workers to supply a much greater domestic demand and produce bumper crops to feed the world's hungry millions.

Cattle prices are depressed and there may not be quite as much money to go around. If fences are in need of repairs, a fence stay may be the answer. Either the twisted or 2-piece design are useful when constructing or repairing barbed wire fences.

Farmers throughout Virginia are making plans to attend "Electro Ag '78" - - - Virginia's fifth Agricultural Materials Handling Exposition. They will come to look, see and compare makes and models of Materials handling equipment under a single roof. Why not join them at "Electro Ag '78" on January 18th and 19th at the State Fairgrounds, Richmond.

Plans are developing for the Appomattox group to depart 8:30 a.m. January 19th. We will park cars at the rear of Memorial United Methodist Church and combine travel. Farmers in the Pamplin area will assemble at Pamplin Exxon and transportation pooled.

An Area Beef Production Education Meeting will be held at Southern Piedmont Research and Continuing Education Center, Blackstone, Va., January 12th from 9:20 till 2:15.

Copies of the program are available from this office.

An up coming program that will interest many in the Virginia Soybean Conference at Williamsburg, Friday, February 10.

The U. S. "Gross National Product" or the value of all the goods and services we produce has increased 34 times in the last century, and is now more than $1,400 billion! That's about $6,640 per American.

This tremendous output of goods and services is the world's largest and is more than Russia, West Germany and France combined.

Last week we invited in five farmers representing Tobacco, Dairy, Beef, Swine and the Crops Industries to share with us some of their concerns and to provide some guidance for Agricultural Extension Programs in the coming years.

Like any business we need to stop frequently and evaluate where we are, determine the effectiveness of our programs, set priorities for the coming year and identify problems and programs that will aid producers of food.

We appreciate their help and vision.

Federal Tax Packages Mailed To Local Residents

RICHMOND, VA. - Approximately 1.9 million Federal tax packages are on their way to Virginia taxpayers this week, the Internal Revenue Service said. Taxpayers will note that the forms, together with tax instructions, reflect a number of important changes in the laws affecting 1977 returns.

One change that should be quite noticeable, according to the IRS, is the restyling of Forms 1040 and 1040A, especially the 1040A which is now a full-size sheet printed on one side. Both forms should be easier to read, with more space for the taxpayer, the IRS said.

As a result of new tax tables which some 96 percent of taxpayers can use, the IRS said it has been possible to eliminate several lines on both the 1040 and 1040A, making these forms easier to prepare because of fewer entries required. This year's tax tables incorporate the new zero bracket amount

'Home Grown' Tomatoes Served For Dinner Recently

When Mrs. Florence Eames of Route 1, Appomattox, paid a recent visit to see her uncle, Roosevelt Daniel, of Glen White, W. Va., and her aunt, Cassie Gibson, of Bluefield, W. Va., she took along with her some home grown tomatoes to slice for the dinner table.

The tomatoes that Mrs. Eames carried with her had their beginning in the family garden which she raised on a farm belonging to Foster Reynolds of Red House. The tomatoes were in their prime, it seems, when frost was expected that night. Mrs. Eames pulled up the vines and planted them in containers and placed them in a cinderblock storage house with plenty of sunshine. Despite the transplanting, the tomatoes matured and ripened and made the trip to West Virginia for a holiday family dinner.

($2,200 for singles and $3,200 for married couples filing jointly), personal exemptions, and the general tax credit. The zero bracket amount replaces the old standard deduction and is based on filing status, not income.

While the forms have been restyled, the IRS pointed out that both the 1040 and 1040A provide the taxpayer with an opportunity to designate $1 of his or her tax liability to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. The forms also accommodate use of the pre-addressed label and edited envelope that come with the tax package. The chief advantage to the label is that the name, address and social security number are already printed. The possibility of making an error is remote. The envelope is disignated to be accommodated by special sorting equipment at the Memphis Service Center. It is coded by the type of return to be filed and by the state from which it is being mailed. With the use of the envelope, two manual sorting procedures are bypassed with processing time minimized resulting in the issuance of a refund that much sooner.

Along with the restyling of the forms, taxpayers will note that the forms reflect various changes in the law relating to, for example, the treatment of capital gains and losses, sale of a house by a taxpayer age 65 and older, moving expenses, individual retirement arrangements, alimony payments and child support.

The IRS urged taxpayers to carefully read their tax instructions and to take advantage of the coupon in the rear of the tax package for ordering free IRS publications and forms.

The Internal Revenue Service again this year is offering free income tax computation to qualifying taxpayers requesting the service.

Persons wishing the IRS to figure their tax should check their instructions to insure they qualify and then complete their return to the line which says "If you want IRS to figure your tax, stop here and sign below." Both spouses must sign a joint return, even if only one had income.

Also, as in previous years, the IRS said, taxpayers who file early will receive their refunds in a shorter period of time than those who wait until the last minute.

Appomattox County Library

By Mary Jane Hoffman

The Library has resources to meet the needs and interests of Teenagers in many and diverse ways.

As I travel I see the restaurants where ethnic foods are served such as Italian and Mexican mostly inhabited by teenagers. Those teen-agers who would like to learn foreign food cookery that is uncomplicated could start cooking for their families and friends using the recipes in One Pot Meals by Margaret Gin. These are simple nourishing dishes which can be used in ten different styles of cooking pots - many low in energy fuel use too. Her recipes are adapted from as many as ten different countries as well as colonial North America.

High Fidelity magazine December 1977 has an article about how Dolly Partos has matured musically through Country Music and a very interesting article about YES the 5 man British group and the equipment used by them for a tour of the United States in 1976 which cost about one million dollars to produce. It takes more than ten people to put one member of YES on stage. Some of the costs are $12.94 an hour for Electricians; $13.50 for stagehands.

The January 1978 issue discusses new recordings and has a good article on Billy Joel: Up from Piano Man;

Now is the time for teen-agers to think and plan ahead for summer employment. Young People and Work by Dr. Arthur H. Cain will give you good hints about yourself and a job search. Dr. Cain says - "I am aware of the fact that some young people encounter serious difficulty in the job market by the very fact of being young and lacking working experience." He quotes from the President's Manpower Report to Congress in 1970 which acknowledges that:

"Inadequate education and training, lack of guidance about opportunities for training and jobs, and discrimination because of color compound these difficulties . . . on the whole, differences in employment rates teen-agers suggest that the problem centers on the youngest, the Negroes, the least educated, and the girls . . . The important point is that the Nation does not have a general youth unemployment problem so much as a problem involving particular groups among the youth. Even more important, for many in these groups, labor force problems do not end with the passing of youth but tend to continue throughout working life."

A careful reading of this book written by an experienced person will help you to find the job you want to hold and lead to realization of your fullest potential in life. What better way to begin the New Year of 1978 than to get serious now about a job on your own?

Strange as it may seem to a modern American farmer, some natives of Mindoro in the Philippine Islands believe that corn should be planted when the leaves of a hardwood tree become as large as mouse ears.

American farmers grow more corn per hour of labor than farmers of any other nation. Modern agricultural technology makes it possible. This includes a herbicide that mixes well in water, fertilizer and with other products. Called AAtrex 4L and made by Ciba-Geigy, it forms a low foam that dissipates quickly.

Lend an ear to this, but don't try to pronounce it. The ancient Aztecs celebrated the corn harvest with elaborate rituals during a time dubbed by these master linguists as "Tlacaxipehualiztli."

Raiders To Host Rustburg Friday Night

The Appomattox Raiders will play host to the Rustburg Red Devils Friday night and will be looking for the upset that could start a string of victories for the local team.

Coach Ray Archer would like to see the stands full for this important Seminole District contest.

Starting for the Raiders will be Captains Joe Fraley and Gerald Booker, along with Larry Kelso, Carl Watson and Arthur Haskins, who has replaced Marvin Clark in the starting line-up.

Should one of the guards get into foul trouble or need a rest, Archer will call on Byron Roach a sophomore, who Archer calls, his sixth man.

After three wins followed by three losses, Archer says, "We don't have any changes that we really need to make. We've played good ball in every game we've been in. We have matched our opponents in field goals in two of our three losses, but lost the game at the free throw line. We have made simple mistakes, such as a technical foul which followed a personal foul in the Altavista game and resulted in five quick points and a win for Altavista."

Coach Archer feels that as the players gain experience and maturity a lot of these mistakes will disappear.

One key to the Raiders success or failure in their remaining games will be their ability to clear the boards and this chore is assigned to Larry Kelso.

Although the Raiders' best defense is the man for man, they have a tendency to get into early foul trouble and do not have the team depth to offset this, so they will probably start many of their remaining games in a zone defense and shift to the man for man sometime during the third or fourth quarters.

There are two freshmen on this year's varsity who, Archer says, "Are real good prospect." Although they would play more at the Jayvee level, he feels they will get more individual attention playing with the varsity because there are fewer players on the senior squad. He is confident about the future of Mike Campbell and Shane Abernathy who he says, "Has already developed into an excellent defensive player but needs work on offense."

With six weeks remaining before tournament time, Coach Archer will take the games one at a time and right now he would like nothing better than a victory Friday night.
